Information. Scholarship accounts are designed so that the principal and any related earnings must be used for certain qualified education expenses at an eligible educational institution. Earnings, if any, will not be subject to federal or Utah state income taxes as set forth above in the restrictions and limitations set forth herein. However, it is possible that future changes in the law may cause a scholarship account to be taxable, or that the Internal Revenue Service may take the position that a scholarship account is taxable in the year it is awarded or distributed. A participant should consult their own tax advisor for more information. Payment of all federal, state and local taxes, if any, that result from winning the 2023 Make Your Mark Bookmark Contest is the sole responsibility of each recipient. All federal, state and local laws apply. Odds of winning depend on the number of entries. The contest is void where prohibited by law.

Scholarship Accounts. Information about the beneficiary that is required to open the scholarship account must be submitted to my529 no later than three months following the award date. Scholarship accounts may not be converted to cash and may not be used for nonqualified withdrawals of funds.

Scholarship accounts are invested in my529's Enrolled investment option. Qualified withdrawals from scholarship accounts can be used for tuition and mandatory fees. Scholarship account funds can be used only at any eligible educational institution, which is any college, university or technical school in the U.S. or abroad that is qualified to participate in federal student aid programs. (Visit <https://studentaid.gov> for a list of eligible schools.) Scholarship account funds may not be used for K-12 tuition expenses, room and board, computers and related equipment, internet service, qualified education loan payments or registered apprenticeships. Withdrawals from a scholarship account will be sent only to the eligible educational institution designated on the withdrawal form. my529 reserves the right to request documentation to verify that withdrawn funds were used for qualified education expenses. The beneficiary must exhaust the funds in the scholarship account before the beneficiary reaches age 22. After the beneficiary reaches age 22, any remaining scholarship funds will be forfeited.

my529 Account Investments. Additional money from a recipient's parents/guardians, friends or family members may not be contributed to a scholarship account; however, other individual my529 accounts may be opened for the beneficiary where such contributions may be received. Each account owner or contributor should carefully read the my529 Program Description (available online at my529.org) for more information and consider all investment objectives, risks, charges and expenses before investing. Investments are not guaranteed by any federal or state agency. However, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) insurance is provided for the FDIC-insured accounts. The Program Description includes more information about the FDIC-insured accounts. An investment could lose value.
