

Week 1 Study Guide

Conflict	The _____ that makes a work of literature interesting. You look for it when you _____ texts. You can look for person versus _____, versus self, versus nature, versus society...
Connection	You put *things together. Things are hands, ideas, molecules, neurons, etc. You unite, ____, link, fasten, and associate. You put concepts and ideas _____. When you read, you put ____ together in your mind. You make connections to your _____. You plug it in. When you learn a new thing, you ____, join, and link up neurons in your brain. You associate your now with your future.
Fact	Knowledge you _____. (Compare and contrast 'opinion')
Legible	The writing is _____ written. We are able to read it and understand. You use clear letters and spaces so we are able to _____ your (hand)writing.
Mathematics	The supercool Game of Patterns that helps us _____ and ___ our _____. It is also a language that helps us _____ patterns and _____ relationships. $\leq 10 \frac{1}{4} \Pi 4 \geq 5 3 \approx \infty \% 8 * \frac{3}{4} + / 6 < 9 = > 2 \frac{1}{2} \zeta \sum 7$ These are some of the things you use to play the game.
Omit	You can ____, ____, ____, ____, ____, ____, ____, ____, ____... You leave it off the list because there is not enough space. You decide to _____ an ingredient, which changes the recipe from a loaf of bread to a flat bread.
Opinion	A view based on _____; this _____ (universally) proven. (Compare and contrast 'fact')
Punctual	You _____ your valuable ____; you are _____. You act like you are _____ (in your seat...).
Two To Too	[_____ [_____ [_____]