

Week 3 Study Guide

Abundant/Abundance	You have _____ than enough, you have _____, you are rich.
Bias	One thing has better chance of being _____ (This makes the situation non-random , which skews the data you have gathered). Someone is _____ against. We tend to see just what we want to see. You know how to make your skirt, jacket, or cape have a beautiful drape.
Citation	You tell your reader where you got that great idea by using a _____. You are intellectually honest.
Character	You notice a person acts the same way because of their _____. These also exist in fictional literature, computer games and can be played by actors. Strangely, this can also mean the _____ and _____.
Data	Information you gather _____, to answer a question.
Focus	You direct all of your attention to one _____ (job). You get yourself into a state of mind where you can _____ things clearly.
Grate Great G8	Use a device to make smaller _____ (of cheese, for example) _____, large, handsome A humorous use of letters and numerals together
Plagiarism	A student just _____ and _____, pretending that they always talk like a doctor, without telling where they got that quotation. This can actually be illegal and get you into a lot of trouble! Just use _____, okay?