

Week 5 Study Guide

Analyze	You decide what the _____ of your story are; the _____ and ideas such as _____, setting, conflict, etc. You make a careful study to see how each _____ is related to the _____.
Causality	The brief and changing _____ between events, matter, or energy. It requires a leap of intuition to comprehend this _____ concept.
Comprehend	You build an _____ in your mind that you can _____. Sometimes this takes a huge brain effort but you manage to do it.
Expression	In math, this is an _____ - it can't be solved because there is no = _____. This can also mean you _____ your thoughts and feelings by a creative act - and you have a mood that shows on your face. It also mean something we say that _____ else, such as "hold your horses" when they just want you to be quiet.
Maximum/ Minimum	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - The _____ you can have, such as speed, horsepower, sharks.... - The _____ amount you can have
Prioritize	A skill you learn where you know what to do _____. You are _____ so you know what is important to do next. You know the difference between what you _____ and what you _____.
Schema	This is a representation of how your mind is _____. It shows how you _____ new ideas and information to prior ideas and info. Of course, this is over-simplified because you are complicated.
We're Where Were	'We are' - a contraction which uses the _____ in place of the 'a'; for instance, your whole team A _____ place; i.e. the other team's goal... A _____ or a _____ that we existed before - the past tense plural of 'to be'