Parents feel that behaviors are more escalated this year, they are hearing this from their kids. We are focusing on circles and restorative justice. Monroe is having a book reading about circles. Alison sent out a survey to see if teachers want to use the clip chart or use something else. Survey results so far show teachers are interested in a hybrid of something that includes the clip chart and something new. Teachers are currently working on community building circles in each classroom and reflective conversations with the student. Alison shared the school wide incentives such as Dragon tickets and monthly drawing, Dragon diner which is lunch with the principal.
