

SKYLINE HIGH SCHOOL

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

October 26, 2020

I keep hearing the comment that these are uncertain times. That is definitely a true statement. With the very many strange events all happening within this 2020 year, it is safe to say things are so uncertain. We have been uncertain how well things would go here at Skyline when the school year began. We have been uncertain about safety after the earthquake, after the windstorms, and through the entire COVID-19 experience. We have been uncertain about how quarantines would happen, how fall sports would proceed, and how willing students would be to wear masks, walk down one-way hallways, and avoid congregating while at school. The uncertainty continues... Will we get more than 15 active cases of the virus and have to dismiss for two weeks? Will our football team keep winning? Will our golf team ever lose a match again? Will we continue with distance learning for the rest of the year? Will the drop-off zone change again? Who will win this crazy election season?

These are uncertain times.

However, there are some certainties on which we can rely. We can rely on our amazing faculty to continue to help students to the best of their abilities. We can rely on the families of Skyline students to continue to support them through these times and toward success. We can be certain that Skyline will maintain high standards and accomplish student success in many ways. Most of all, we can be certain that the students of Skyline will continue to persevere. They have demonstrated over the years that they are able to find success against whatever the world throws at them.

I know that the uncertainty of our world will not become resolved anytime soon. However, we can be certain that Skyline will be a place that will remain. It will be a place that grows with us and supports all of us as we try to overcome uncertainty and strive for the bright future that lies ahead.

Sincerely,
Mitch Nerdin, Principal
